

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from Buckingham Palace!

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROLHAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and the Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Whitehouse W5

One of the top six building in London, according to Time Out Magazine (on a list which includes Buckingham Palace and The Shard), the White House London, is an extraordinary building. The residence of Prince John Zylinski who designed and built the house as a promise he made to his Grandmother to rebuild her palace in Poland, which was destroyed during the Second World War, the White House is a grand, light and magical building, completely different to most dark and gloomy British Stately Homes. The main colours throughout are gold and white and includes an antique gold Steinway grand piano – the only one in England apart from

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk