

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End. The warehouse in London Fields is a Victorian Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk

Boho Warehouse E9

House of Two Door is a photo shoot location situated in the heart of London's vibrant East End, between London Fields and Victoria Park. Founded by an antique dealer and an artist, the house reflects their eclectic taste and passion for beautiful decorative art and interesting design. Bathed in natural light, the house has kept its original 1930's open plan architecture. With large, industrial steel frame windows running down both sides of the main floor, and additional skylights across the ceiling, the space is literally flooded with light. The house is filled with abundant greenery, a leafy hideaway rich with plants and pots from Hackney to the tropics.

CAROL HAYES
MANAGEMENT

020 7482 1555

www.carolhayesmanagement.co.uk